Giorgio Armani - A Timeless Empire

Giorgio Armani, a brand steeped in a rich history, is a legacy of unprecedented style and unwavering determination. Armani evokes powerful emotions, serving as a driving force to its distinctive and intricately crafted style. Founded by the visionary designer Giorgio Armani, this iconic fashion house stands as a beacon of timeless elegance and class. Shaping the very definition of luxury and sophistication, Armani has now expanded into diverse domains, from cosmetics to interior design, and from apparel into the realm of luxury hotels.

The Armani style embodies a refined taste, fearlessly challenging traditional norms and flourishing through the innovative rewriting of fashion's rules in response to rapidly evolving trends. What began as an adventurous journey, as quoted by Giorgio Armani, initially harboured no grand expectations. Now, the concise and enduring line summarises forty years of a style that has overcome the barriers of time.

Launched in 1981, the Emporio Armani line has a strong dynamic and urban quality, and reflects all the elegance of the Armani aesthetic, reworked in an incisive and contemporary language. The brand confirms its original identity: a “container” that offers a broad range of garments and accessories, from sportswear to formal and more elegant pieces, for different target customers including children, with a message that resonates across the board. Retaining its distinctive characteristics of experimentation and constant evolution, the collection offers a modern and innovative outlook on fashion.

Created in 2004 as a spin-off of Emporio Armani devoted to sports activities, EA7 offers technical and leisure clothing aimed at sports enthusiasts.

A|X Armani exchange, the brand launched in 1991, rewrites the urban dress codes, introducing the values of the Armani world to a younger audience. The collection is essential, contemporary and inclusive: it offers accessible, versatile clothing and accessories to a wide audience, regardless of age, gender or background, while replacing conventions with individual expression – in true Armani signature style.

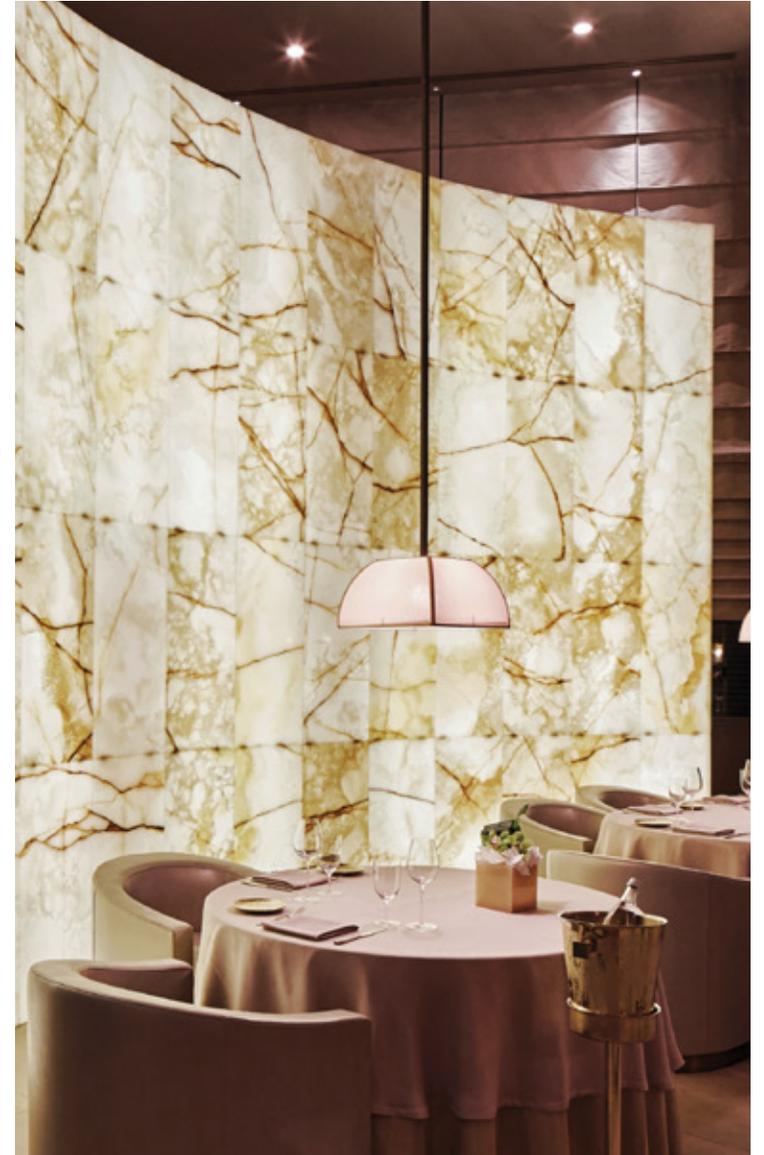

Armani/Restaurants

The Armani world of food & beverage made its debut in 1998 with the launch of the Paris restaurant, the first of more than 20 restaurants opened worldwide by Giorgio Armani. From Milan to Tokyo, and Munich to Dubai, Armani restaurants are constantly evolving and today boast an international presence on four continents.

A PIONEERING VISION

"I always wanted the Armani brand to become an expression of style as a lifestyle, of sophisticated simplicity as a sign of elegance in every field, and food that is one of the most important elements of everyday life could not be missing."

Many additions have been made over the years, since launching the pioneering concept of a fashion brand having its own dining establishments back in 1998. The offering now includes cafés, bars and restaurants in some of the most prestigious destinations around the world.

Award-winning Italian cuisine infused with contemporary interpretation is the hallmark of one Michelin-starred Armani/Ristorante. Armani/Casa

Introduced in 2000, Armani/Casa has established itself as a world leader in the luxury furnishings market. Synonymous with lifestyle, elegance and style, it arose from Giorgio Armani's concept for living: an intimate yet sophisticated and unique place, where comfort and harmony are ever-present.

In addition to furniture and furnishings – accessories, lamps and exclusive fabrics, wallpaper, bathrooms and kitchens – in 2004 Armani/Casa also launched the Armani/Casa interior design studio, a complete service aimed at private individuals and property developers, accompanying them from the initial concept and subsequently overseeing the execution of the entire project.

Armani/Silos

Armani/Silos, located in Via Bergognone 40 in Milan, is a lively, open space that illustrates Giorgio Armani's professional experience, revealing a wealth of unique skills.

It is a place in which to design the future, a showcase for new directions and lifestyles, capable of capturing the evolution of times and changing cultures.

The Armani/Silos building was once a warehouse for a large multinational company. "I chose to call it silos because it was used to store grain – essential for life. And, like food, the way we dress is also a part of life" explained Giorgio Armani.

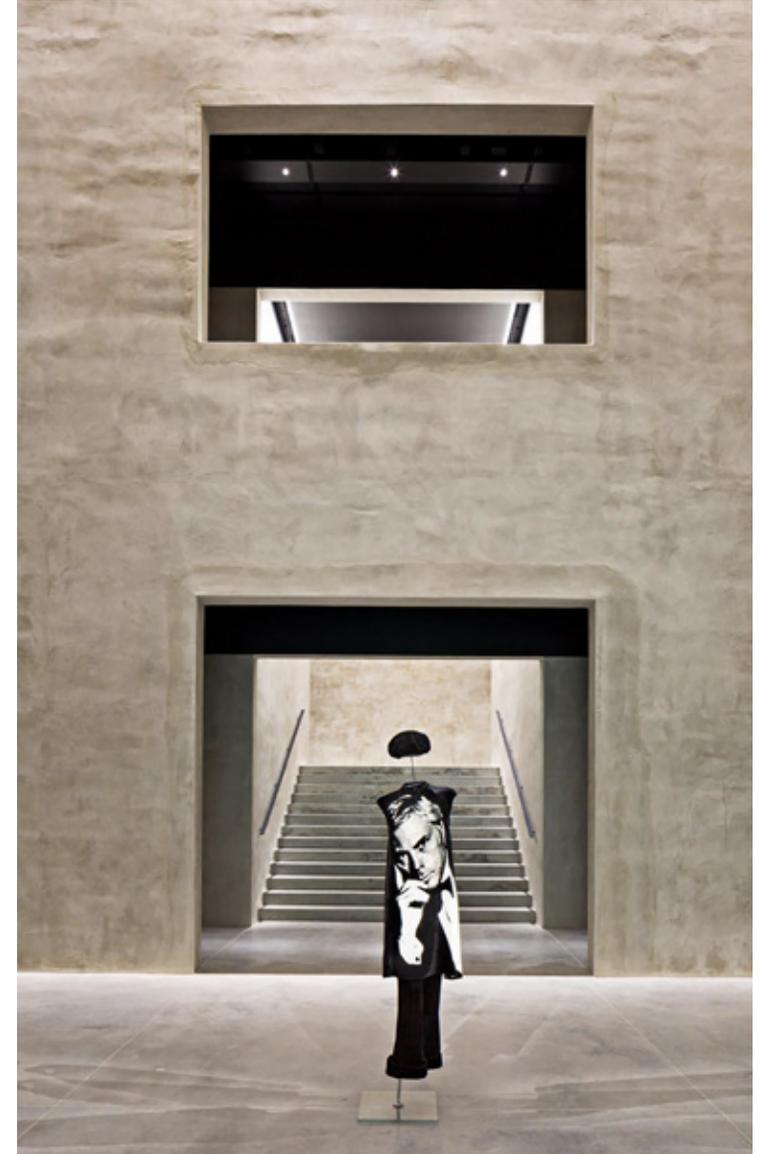

Armani/Silos

The search for simplicity, eliminating unnecessary ornamentation and everything that is superfluous, coupled with a preference for regular geometric shapes and a desire for uniformity have produced a sober yet monumental building based on the rule of order and rigor: a rational response to practical needs, with spaces demonstrating respect for the original architecture. By preserving the building's unusual established form, recalling a beehive, a metaphor for industriousness, the renovation of the exhibition space reinforces the designer's aesthetic philosophy and creative dynamism.

The space includes not only the exhibition areas but also a gift shop and an open-plan indoor coffee shop, as well as housing a digital archive.

Giorgio Armani has said: "Setting up Armani/Silos, deciding what to exhibit and how, focusing on the themes that best represent a way of thinking and a style - all this helped me look back on my 40-year career in a passionate but balanced way. Because fashion, which seems to want to live in an eternal present, needs to reflect on itself and its own roots in order to face the future. Through this process of reflection, we see how fashion accompanies and often anticipates important social changes. Remembering what we were like in the past can help us understand what we might be in the future."

The Armani Group and Sustainability

"We do realise that building and securing the future of the planet requires changes in the way we live and do business. I have always believed in a business model based on a certain set of values that are essential to me and on a notion of fashion that is capable of creating value and fostering employment. We are aware of our privileged position, and with privilege comes responsibility."

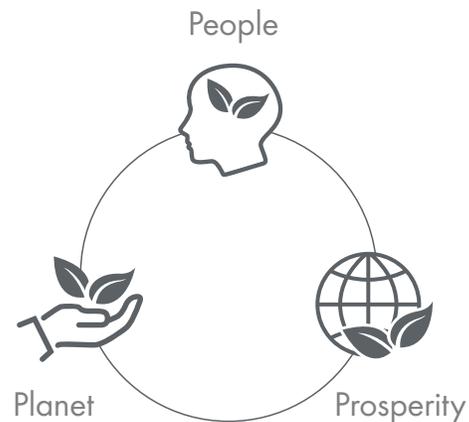

Giorgio Armani

Armani/Values

01. Less is More

Giorgio Armani advocates for an inclusion that is primarily intellectual, rejecting the notion of generalised status symbols. He addresses strong personalities and intelligent characters, offering creations designed to endure over time. This idea is born from the belief that "less is more" and good design is timeless, emphasising the rejection of irresponsible consumption. Style, according to Armani, is a sustainable way of life.

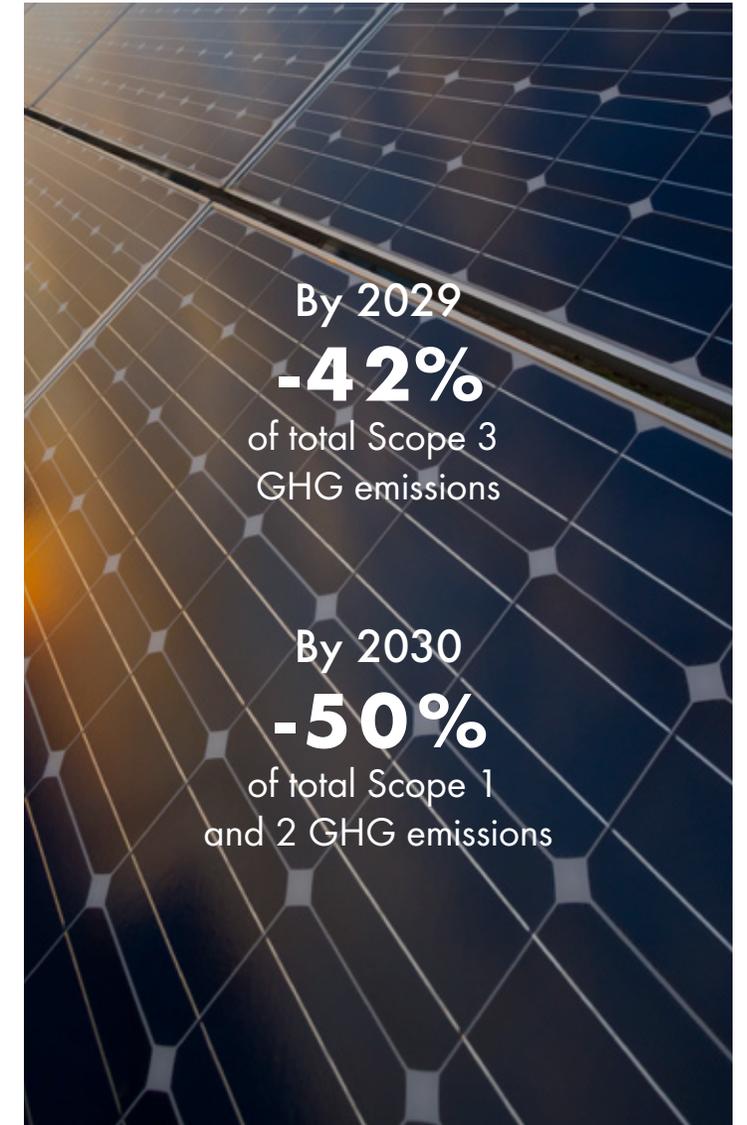

The Armani Group, as an international entity, adheres to the "less is more" strategy, creating and distributing wealth. This approach allows the Group to contribute to the economic growth of the social and environmental context in which it operates, all while aligning with the interests of its stakeholders.

02. Sustainable Strategy - 2030 Sustainability Plan

"We do realise that building and securing the future of the planet requires changes in the way we live and do business. I have always believed in a business model based on a certain set of values that are essential to me and on a notion of fashion that is capable of creating value and fostering employment. We are aware of our privileged position, and with privilege comes responsibility."

As a fundamental part of the Group's vision, the Armani Hotels & Resorts closely follow sustainability guidelines. In 2024, both the Armani Hotel Dubai and the Armani Hotel Milano will be working towards sustainability certifications in the tourism sector. This sustainability strategy is defined by three main areas of action: People, Planet, and Prosperity. Specific qualitative and quantitative objectives are identified for each of the three areas, aligning with the results of the materiality analysis. These objectives are summarised in the Group's Sustainability Plan, which is fed by internal strategic planning and analysis processes, reinforced by stakeholder input and participation in national and international working groups, in line with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) defined by the United Nations.

Scope 1 are direct emissions from the combustion of fossil fuels used.
Scope 2 are indirect emissions from the production of electricity used.
Scope 3 are indirect emissions from the company's value chain, upstream and downstream.
